Make Your Vacation A Safe One

By Willard Bosserman
County Extension Director

Roscommon and Crawford Counties are in the heart of Michigan's vacation land. Although the two counties are not agricultural, they are considered rural areas. In rural areas there are some things that require special precautions.

For instance, Richard Pfister, Michigan State University Extension Safety Engineer reminds us that accident rates are much higher on rural highways than they are on freeways.

"Defensive driving is a key to traffic safety on both kinds of roads, but it is especially important on rural highways," he claims.

"Look for hazards, know the proper defense and act in time. Adjust your speed to highway and weather conditions," he adds.

Pfister also suggests landowners cut high weed, crop, brush and tree growth at driveways and corners.

I bring this to mind at this time because there are many vacationers in our area and July 19-25 is national safety week. In this regard Pfister adds another little safety tip which has to do with good house keeping.

He says, "neat orderly houses are safer and more pleasant homes, have a storage place for everything; keep everything in its place when not in use."

"Periodically check appliances, wiring, power tools, and other equipment for defects. Inspect heating systems, fuses, portable heaters, and other home equipment to cut fire risk. Prepare a home fire escape plan."

"Remove clutter and rubbish which could cause fire and/or falls. Keep household products and medicine in a safe storage place out of children's reach. Lock up poisons. Avoid unnecessarily hazardous products."

"Make extra efforts to safeguard small children and senior citizens." Continue to have a unfilled and safe vacation.

To Let Bids For 75 Construction

Bids will be taken July 15 for construction of a four-level interchange linking Interstate 696 and I-75 freeways and on the west projects under a federal program to increase capacity and safety of urban highways, the State Highway Commission said today.

Included in the bid opening is construction of a four-mile section of I-75 freeway near Roscommon. It is part of the last uncompleted link of the freeway between I-696 and Sault Ste Marie, and comprises a section from southwest of Roscommon near M-18 north into Crawford County. Work includes grading and drainage structures, paving and construction of three bridges, at an estimated cost of $2,000,000, with completion expected in December, 1971.

State - Consumers Power To Swap Land

LANSING — Michigan's Natural Resources Commission last week approved guidelines for a series of exchanges under which the State will acquire frontage in the AuSable River and lands to block in other holdings from the Consumers Power Company. In return for those tracts, the company will gain right-of-way easements across state lands which it needs for laying out transmission lines.

Commission action last week will enable the Department of Natural Resources to pick up Consumers Power lands along the AuSable River about 44 miles east of Mio in exchange for right-of-way easements on state lands in the Mio-to-Grayling-Traverse City area.

The amount of lands to be acquired by the DNR under this first exchange has not yet been determined, pending the completion of timber and land appraisals on state lands which Consumers Power requires for its extra high voltage transmission lines. When those state land values are determined, they will be applied on an equitable basis to acquire AuSable River frontage east of Mio.

State lands to be gained for easement by Consumers Power will, in line with that company's long-standing policy, remain open to public hunting, fishing, and other recreational activities so long as these uses do not interfere with the firm's operations.

William L. Reid, manager of land and right of way for Consumers Power, noted that the AuSable River section to come to the DNR is a "most desirable, still undeveloped, portion." He added that the DNR's announced plan to keep that stretch of frontage in its present scenic state is "compatible with our intentions of providing recreation lands for the best use of all the people. The proposed use of the lands is also compatible with federal and state legislative action to protect the few remaining rivers which are still in a natural condition."

On another cheering note, Reid told the Commission last week that his company will continue to defer limited cabin site leases on the key 9-mile stretch of the AuSable River so long as "a new public awareness continues to result in litter and pollution control" on the stream.

The company's original plan to lease cabin sites along this stretch was based on its 30 years of experience which shows that leaseholders help control litter by others rather than causing it.

To Hold Clinic

Immunization clinic for all children over 3 months of age, July 22, 1970 between 9:30 and 11:30 a.m., Crawford County Court House, District Health Dept. #1. Diphtheria, Whooping Cough, Tetanus, Measles, and Oral Polio immunization will be given.

This same clinic will be held at Frederic School Cafeteria, July 22, 1970 between 1:30 and 3:00 p.m.

The contract for the construction of the new Grayling State Bank, to be located where the old Crawford County Court House and Jail were located on Michigan Ave., was let last Thursday, July 9.

General contractor for the building, which will be of an authentic Colonial design, is the Hallmark Construction Company of Lansing, Jack Alef, bank president announced.

Friday morning, excavation at the site was started by Jack Millikin Construction Co., of Grayling, one of the sub-contractors.

The exterior of the new building will be of pink Georgian brick, with white trim and a black roof, to coincide with other buildings in the area.

The banking area will consist of 5000 sq. ft. plus a drive-in facility located in back of the building.

On the main floor there will be nine teller stations, a bookkeeping department, a record vault, the latest type of cash and safety deposit vault, two private offices, a private conference room and an open office area. The interior will be of colonial motif.

The building which is 100'x50' will sit nearly in the center of the block, with parking available on either side for employees and customers.

Mr. Alef stated, that the bank has made arrangements with the city, and have offered a 20 spot metered parking strip along the back of the lot. The city will place and maintain the meters in this stretch of parking, and will receive the revenues from the meters.

In this way, Mr. Alef said, the downtown parking area that has existed will be continued.

The bank purchased the land in August of 1969, and the court house and jail were torn down in March of this year. Projected completion of the new bank is expected in December, with a possible occupancy by January 1st, 1971, Mr. Alef said.

Nels Johnson has just returned from the Veterans Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor, where he was fitted with a new heart pacer.

Camp Fund Barbecue Set For July 18

This year, the Michelson Memorial Church has had an increase of 400% in the number of children and youth going on church camping trips. Some forty or more will go for a week or ten days this summer. Many of these youth could not go without some scholarship help.

Therefore the youth themselves have decided to sponsor a "Camp Fund Dinner."

This will be in the form of a Chicken Barbecue on Saturday, July 18th right out on the Church Lawn. The Chicken will begin to sizzle under the watchful eye of the Master Barbecueur and be ready to eat from 3 until 7 o'clock.

Donations will go toward our camping fund. They are: Adults $1.50 and children under twelve $1.00.

The Women of the Church will also sponsor a pie and ice cream concession for those desiring dessert. Everyone is welcome to come out and enjoy themselves. No one will be turned away.

New Owners At Triangle Motel

Jack and Kathleen Lund, formerly of Ludington, are the new owners of the Triangle Motel. They took over management of the business on June 1.

The Lunds have two school age children. Before coming to Grayling, Mr. Lund was in the building business.

John and Mary Baker, former owners, plan to remain in Grayling. They have purchased the McEvers' home on Alger St. He is traveling for Whipple Photo Service.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Wood of Route 1 spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Penty in Grand Rapids and attended the World War I Veterans meeting on Friday and Saturday in that city.

Guardsmen in Field Training

CAMP GRAYLING — The post became a beehive of activity Monday as the first week of camp began for more than 4,000 members of the Michigan Army National Guard.

Moving around was the order of the day as the dusty streets and roads teemed with jeeps and trucks.

Troops slated to remain on the main base settled into routine work days and began to perform the jobs they will hold for the next two weeks. Tents were cleaned, boots were shined and the first inspections were made.

Other guardsmen loaded bag and baggage in vehicles and headed for the field for four days of training in the out of doors. A wet beginning to the day and forecasts for continued cloudiness, high humidity and possible showers did not hamper activity.

Units moved to the field include the 107th Engineer Bn., the 1437th Engineer Company, HBB 157th Artillery Group and the 182nd artillery. Their homes will be pup tents until Thursday when they will pull back to camp.

Movement from home stations was a success Saturday. All convoys were very close to being on schedule and no accidents were reported.

"Quiet but confident," is the byword of the 146th Military Police Company from Owasco. The unit commander, CPT Gary Teller used the terminology to describe the latest Guard technique in dealing with civil disturbance — riot batons.

In use for several years by the Michigan State Police, the riot baton was added to the National Guard inventory as a "low level of force" at the request of Governor Milliken.

The training resembles the bayonet drills so familiar to anyone who has served in the Army or Marine Corps. But the two pound ash baton is easier to manipulate than the nine pound M-1 or the seven pound M-14.

CPT Teller said his troops had been trained by the Michigan State Police. The baton training consisted of from four to six hours and will be continued at camp in lieu of physical training by all units.

"We believe in the motto quiet but confident," he said. "We have found that the enthusiastic approach of the airborne does not lend itself to the mission of easing tension. We have found that a quiet movement and a confident approach works much better."

Camp Grayling Boys Camp started the first of two sessions today with the arrival of more than 100 boys from Detroit's inner city.

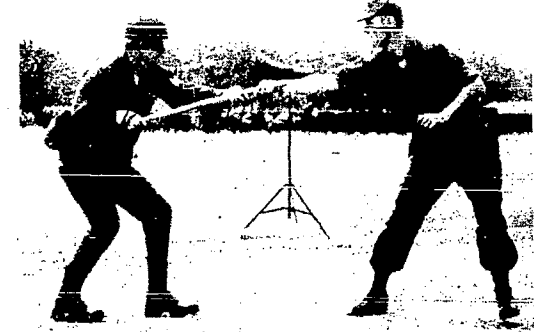

The boys will be treated to many activities including tours of the Grayling Fish Hatchery, Hartwick Pines State Park and the Fred Bear Museum.

They will leave at the end of this week and will be replaced by another 100 boys.

Strength figures put the total military population of the camp at 4,357 guardsmen, all here for two weeks of training.

Need for Blood

The Red Cross blood program in Crawford County provides many benefits that most people are not aware of unless they have had occasion to receive them.

The program does provide all of the whole blood used by Crawford County residents, regardless of whether they are hospitalized locally or away from home.

In addition to whole blood for transfusions, a number of derivatives, or by-products of blood, are also made available. Whole blood has a useful life of only 21 days during which it can be given as a transfusion. Beyond this point, it loses its effectiveness in this form.

If units of blood of a specific type are not called for during this 21 day period, they become outdated. No pint of blood is wasted. All of this outdated blood is returned to the Lansing Regional Red Cross Blood Center located in Lansing. The blood center delivers this blood to the Michigan Department of Health, also in Lansing.

There, the Health Department Laboratory separates the cells from the plasma, and the plasma is made into various derivatives. These products, in turn, are available, without charge, to the patients.

Some of the products made from the plasma are Fibrinogen, used for treating hemorrhage; serum albumen, used for treating shock; and gamma globulin for treatment of measles and hepatitis.

Crawford County is one of 34 counties participating in the regional blood program. It is a service provided for residents through the Crawford County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The bloodmobile will visit Crawford County in Grayling on July 29, 1970, from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. All residents of this area are urged to come in to donate blood and help support their program.

Trap Shoot Winner

Phil Miller was named the 1970 Michigan State Class AA Trap Champion, which was held at Lansing last week. He broke 196-200 targets in the program.

Gov. Milliken To Review This Saturday

Troops of the Michigan Army National Guard will pass in review on the parade field Saturday as the annual Review and Memorial Service brings an end to the first week of summer camp.

The 4,357 men in attendance will be reviewed by MG Clarence C. Schnipke, Adjutant General of the State, and his staff. On the reviewing stand with top ranking officers will be Gov. William G. Milliken, Commander in Chief of the Michigan National Guard.

The Governor's speech will be a highlight of the program.

Other features of the program will be the presentation of annual awards. The Eisenhower Trophy will be presented to the most outstanding unit at camp, the G. A. MacDonald Swager Stick will go to the most outstanding officer and the Stewart medal will be given to the most outstanding enlisted man.

Marine Div. Urges Water Safety

As the heavy boating and swimming activities of July and August begin to take their toll of accidents and lives lost around the state, the Marine division of the Crawford County Sheriff's Department wishes to take this opportunity to urge all boaters to acknowledge and abide by the few simple safety requirements as put forth by Michigan law.

During 1969, more fishermen drowned than people engaged in any other activity. Statistics show that they are not wearing or making available the proper lifesaving devices, (one deficiency common to almost all boating accidents). Many people say they do not realize that the law requires life-saving devices aboard non-powered boats, such as canoes. Here again, it is the responsibility of the citizen to acquaint himself with the law.

The most common offense committed by Michigan boaters is the failure to carry on board their certificate of number, or registration. This is the only acceptable proof of current registration and ownership and must be on board at all times during operation of the motorboat.

The Michigan Marine Safety Act has been in effect for three years, being enacted in 1967.

With the increase in boating and swimming accidents around the state, law enforcement agencies are beginning to take a sterner view towards violators. This is evidenced by the increasing number of arrests made and tickets issued. The Crawford County Sheriff's Department stands ready to offer help and to answer any questions regarding Marine law and safety. In addition, copies of the safe boating laws and requirements may be obtained by stopping by the Sheriff's office in the county courthouse. Remember: "Safe Boating Is No Accident."

Judy Kay Canfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil J. Canfield of Route 1, Grayling, became the bride of Robert Eugene Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olla Cooper of Route 1, Grayling on Saturday, June 20.

A double ring candlelight ceremony was performed at seven o'clock by Rev. Paul Frederick at the Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church before 180 relatives and friends, in a setting of yellow and white gladiolus. Music was played by Mrs. Forrest Annis and the selections presented were "Because" and "Oh, Promise Me."

The bride was escorted to the altar on the arm of her father. She wore a gown of cascading ruffles and scalloped acetate and nylon Chantilly lace which swept to a cathedral train. The Sabrina neckline featured scallops of Chantilly lace decorated with pearls. Petals of lace and pearls held her imported illusion veil. Her bouquet was of white daisies and yellow pom poms with flowing white streamers intertwined with daisies.

Mrs. Beverly Galloway of Flint, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Debra Hawley of Grayling, niece of the bride, Viola Cooper of Clio, Betty Cooper of Lake Orion and Noreen Cooper of Union Lake, all sisters-in-law. They were attired in matching Empire gowns of lime chiffon, featuring scoop necklines and a bishop sleeves. Matching venice lace and avocado ribbon accented the waistline and cuffs. Caps of daisies held their veils and they carried bouquets of yellow daisies and white pom poms with flowing avocado streamers.

Earl Cooper of Union Lake served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Billy Williams, Ross Argue, Don Fairbotham and Wes Argue, all of Grayling. Ushers were Mark and Carl Cooper of Clio, nephews of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Canfield wore a navy blue and white dotted Dacron dress with white accessories. Mrs. Cooper chose a two piece aqua lace suit with white accessories for her son's wedding. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow daisies and white pom poms.

A reception was held at the Beaver Creek Township Hall immediately following the wedding. Green and white decorations carried out the color scheme of the wedding. The five-tiered wedding cake was baked by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Thomas Galloway of Grayling.

For their honeymoon in Northern Michigan, Mrs. Cooper chose a blue dress with beige accessories. They are residing in Beaver Creek on 5 Mile Road where they have purchased a home.

Judy is a 1968 graduate of Grayling High School and graduated from Northwestern Beauty Academy of Cosmetology in March of 1969. Bob attended Grayling High School and has served his time in the Armed Forces.

Out of town guests were from Flint, Lansing, Saginaw, Garden City, Clio, Roseville, St. Clair Shores, Owendale, King'ston, Moorestown, Frederic, Roscommon, Prudenville, Millington, Harrison, Lake Orion and Union Lake.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

Is it fun to be SURPRISED?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When each new experience springs forth like a jack-in-the-box . . . and your fondest possessions are toys . . . and your chief concern is to squeeze out of every hour the last ounce of amusement — then it's fun to be surprised.

But when you've grown too old for toys . . . when life is laced with serious challenge . . . when happiness depends on a thousand social, economic and moral decisions — then surprises can be devastating!

It is elementary that our early education must prepare us for the later surprises. The knowledge, habits and skills we acquire must be adequate for meeting the unexpected as readily as the expected.

And because religious faith and moral fortitude are men's chief resources in the unheralded crises of adult life, we must nurture their development in every child.

Support, encourage, serve your church in its vital efforts to mold the character of today's youth — tomorrow's adults.

Grayling, Michigan — Thursday, July 16, 1970

Are You Sick, Too?

The following are the concluding remarks from an address by Radio Commentator Pat Michaels at the College of the Holy Names, Oakland, California on March 15, 1970. We think it merits the attention of our readers.

There are those who claim that ours is a "sick" society. That our country is sick, our government is sick, that we are sick.

Well maybe they're right. I submit that maybe I am sick ... and maybe you are too.

I am sick of having policemen ridiculed and called "pigs" while cop-killers are hailed as some kind of folk hero.

I am sick of being told that religion is the opiate of the people ... but marijuana should be legalized.

I am sick of being told that pornography is the right of a free press ... but freedom of the press does not include being able to read a Bible on school grounds.

I am sick of commentators and columnists canonizing anarchists, revolutionists, and criminal rapists but condemning law enforcement if it brings such criminals to justice.

I am sick of paying more and more taxes to build schools while I see some faculty members encouraging students to tear them down.

I am sick of Supreme Court decisions which turn criminals loose on society -- while other decisions try to take the means of protecting my home and family away.

I am sick of being told policemen are mad dogs who should not have guns -- but that criminals who use guns to rob, maim and murder should be understood and helped back into society.

I am sick of being told it is wrong to use napalm to end a war overseas -- but if it's a bomb or molotov cocktail at home, I must understand the provocations.

I am sick of not being able to take my family to a movie unless I want them exposed to nudity, homosexuality and the glorification of narcotics.

I am sick of pot-smoking entertainers deluging me with their condemnation of my moral standards on late-night television.

I am sick of riots, marches, protests, demonstrations, confrontations, and the other mob temper tantrums of people intellectually incapable of working within the system.

I am sick of reading so-called modern literature with its kinship to what I used to read on the walls of public toilets.

I am sick of those who say I owe them this or that because of the sins of my forefathers -- when I have looked down both ends of a gun barrel to defend their rights, their liberties and their families.

I am sick of cynical attitudes toward patriotism. I am sick of politicians with no backbones.

I am sick of permissiveness.

I am sick of the dirty, the foul-mouthed, the unwashed.

I am sick of the decline in personal honesty, personal integrity and human sincerity.

And most of all, I am sick of being told I'm sick. And, I'm sick of being told my country is sick -- when we have the greatest nation man has ever brought forth on the face of the earth. And fully fifty percent of the people on the face of this earth would willingly trade places with the most deprived, the most underprivileged amongst us.

Yes, I may be sick. But, if I am only sick, I can get well. And, I can help my society get well. And, I can help my country get well.

Take note, you in high places. You will not find me under a placard. You will not see me take to the streets. You will not find me throwing a rock or a bomb. You will not find me ranting to wild-eyed mobs.

But you will find me at work within my community. You will find me expressing my anger and indignation in letters to your political office.

You will find me canceling my subscription to your periodical the next time it condones criminal acts or advertises filth.

You will find me speaking out in support of those people and those institutions which contribute to the elevation of society and not its destruction. You will find me contributing my time and my personal influence to helping churches, hospitals, charities and those other volunteer backbones of America which have shown the true spirit of this Country's determination to ease pain, eliminate hunger and generate brotherhood.

But, most of all, you'll find me at the polling place. There, you'll hear the thunder of the common man. There, you'll see us cast our vote ... for an America where people can walk the streets without fear ... for an America where our children will be educated and not indoctrinated ... for an America of brotherhood and understanding ... for an America no longer embarrassed to speak its motto "In God We Trust."

Radio Station Starts Tests

If you are like those avid fans of the ol' crystal set, sitting up nights trying to find a station or two, you're likely to hear Grayling's new radio station WGRY testing its transmitter for the first time this week.

From midnight to sunrise on 1590 kilocycles, WGRY will be transmitting various test tones and station identifications in order to complete engineering tests required by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) in Washington.

No programs will be heard during these tests. However, after the technical information is compiled and submitted to the FCC, it will only be another 15 or 20 days for the station to obtain final approval, about mid-August.

The "Program Authorization" which constitutes final approval for the station to go ahead with normal programming, follows the submission of technical data to the Commission and a thorough inspection of WGRY's facilities by FCC examiners.

A Singing Flame May End Air Jets' Whine

A "Singing Flame" may put an end to the whining sound of the airplane jet engine, if the experiments are successful at the College of Engineering, Pennsylvania State University.

Mechanical engineer Gerhard Reethof is searching for an efficient, economical method of reducing the loud whine of jet engines.

His premise is that, if a pure tone could be generated in a jet engine's hot exhaust gases and if that sound could be pitched exactly out of phase with the fan blade noise, the two will cancel. Preliminary research has shown that an oscillating electric field acting on the boundary of the hot part of an oxy-acetylene flame does result in the generation of sound at the frequency of the imposed electric field. In fact it was even possible to transmit music with considerable fidelity; hence, the term singing flame.

Letters To The Editor

Last week, I was asked by my son's Little League coach to help him explain to my son why he was not chosen on the All Star team to represent Grayling in the Little League tournament. Just as the coach, I found it a most difficult task. How do you explain why an adult that for some prejudiced, petty, personal reason misuses the power granted to him by a great organization. It seems that in the All Star selection, each coach had a veto power over the choice of the other three. One of the coaches saw fit to veto the choice of my son.

Now, lest this be thought of as just another protest from a biased parent, I would like to state the case in point.

My son pitches for the Legion team. He was the first selection of his coach for the All Star team. He has pitched six games so far this year and has won five of them. In three of these games he has protected a one run lead by striking out the side in the last inning. He has averaged 12 strike-outs a game out of a possible 18. The games that he did not pitch, he has played at third base and left field and has done a fine job at both positions. At bat he is batting comfortably over .300. Yet, this one coach saw fit to say that he should not be on the All Star team.

I do not mean to infer that my son is a one man ball team, because he plays on a team of good ball players, coached by a good coach. I do not want to quarrel with the selection of those who did make the team, I just want to point out the injustice that can occur when a veto power is vested in the hands of people who do not reflect the spirit of sportsmanship that is so evident in the Little League players.

To that one coach that saw fit to misuse this power, I would like to say this. What Dan has done this year has not come easily for him. He has worked long and hard as I am sure most of the boys do. But, when they do a good job they like to get a little recognition. The sportsmanship and fair play displayed by the players is so wonderful to see, it is too bad that you, coach, could not take a lesson from the boys.

In closing, I want you to know, coach, that the day after your noble deed was made known to Dan, he went and pitched his team to victory over the league leaders, ending the game with strike outs with men on base, once again protecting a one run lead. Both my son and I wish the best of luck to the team that is to represent Grayling, and hope they come home a winner. And one more thing; I want my son to read publicly that his father, his coach, and I really believe, most of the players in the league, consider him an All Star in spite of your cute little maneuver (and I mean LITTLE).

FAMILY POT LUCK

Blend 1 can condensed cream of vegetable or chicken soup with 1/3 cup milk; add 1/2 cup chopped cooked ham and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Heat, stirring now and then. Do not boil. Serve over waffles. Garnish with toasted sliced almonds.

You can utilize leftover beef easily. Cube the meat and heat with tomato sauce and onions. Add chili powder to taste. Kidney beans drained and included need just to be heated through. To make a speedy topping for broiled fish or green vegetables, add a teaspoon of lemon juice and some chopped parsley to a fourth cup of melted butter.

Next time you have some potato chip crumbs in the bottom of the bag, try saving them and using them folded into a casserole or sprinkled on top of your favorite hot pasta dish.

VIENNA SAUSAGE IN ACORN SQUASH

2 cans (4 ounces each)

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

Maintaining Integrity

There is the old legend that says the United States mail always goes through, regardless of sleet, storm, and other vagaries of nature.

And for years beyond recall the United States mail was inviolable, and was to anyone who interfered with its delivery.

However, recently in San Francisco an interesting situation occurred. Thirteen mailmen were caught throwing away 3300 pieces of third class mail.

Taking prompt action, postal authorities filed charges against the thirteen and the whole matter was brought before a Federal Grand Jury. But by some rationale, not yet clear, the Grand Jury refused to indict, which set the men loose.

But the Postal Inspection Service, which is somewhat like the FBI in postal violation matters, has taken action.

On the orders of this branch of the postal service, the men were relieved of their jobs.

But the thirteen vow they will fight their dismissal right up to the Postmaster General in Washington, if necessary, because they say that their supervisors knew they were dumping mail, and as long as they are not being charged, they are not guilty of tossing away mail.

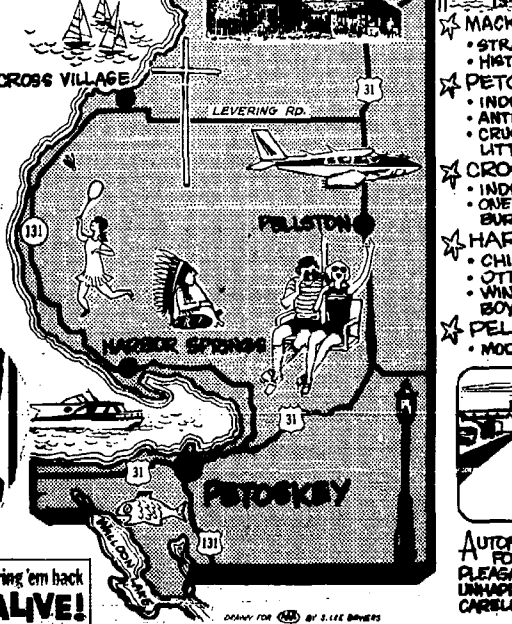

Of course, the thirteen take the position that they were only throwing away junk mail, with no recognition of the fact that people paid good money for third class postage to get the mail delivered.

Whether or not the postal service would be so diligent in maintaining the integrity of the mails in all cases is perhaps a moot question, but on the other hand, it is to be hoped this attitude is firmly held.

But perhaps playing a role in the San Francisco case is the fact that part of the mail thrown away was a Congressman's newsletter to his constituents.

Freedom Threatened

Pres. Edgar F. Shannon, Jr., of the University of Virginia in addressing the graduating class said, "We have glimpsed here the perils to academic freedom and opportunity that have threatened where . . . where there has been coercion, violence and gross interference with the rights and opinions of others. The universities cannot yield to those on the extreme left who want to oppose or theocracy of thought through coercion or violence or to the extremists of the right who would achieve orthodoxy through repression and government by force." He also said that either alternative would be fatal to the fundamental purpose of a university.

GROWING PAINS—To illustrate the staggering federal debt, Cong. H. R. Cross (R-Iowa) said that when the federal aid program was launched in 1947 its promoters said that it would be only a 5-year program and the total cost would not exceed $5 billion. He added that with the current legislation approved the cost of federal aid since it was launched in 1947 will come to more than $200,000,000,000—(two hundred billion dollars.)

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMES

From Mrs. Maxine Grossick, Marshall, Indiana: I remember long cold winters we sat around the fire and listened to the crackling of the logs. We could hardly wait to get home from school to shed the long black stockings we wore. I remember when spring came. Mom would take the big market basket, a knife or two and two or three of the children, and would begin to find the tender, narrow dock, wild lettuce, beet, pepper plant, wild radish, and mustard. When she came to a spot where they were plentiful, she would give the oldest a knife and say, "This is good, and this, be sure to get plenty of that!" The highlight of spring came when it was warm enough for the spring farmers would begin to knock on our door to ask him to share the first day he had off work. He drove a Maxwell with the top down and would usually take two or three of the little children with him. The farmers would offer to give us a lamb if we could keep it in the car for five minutes. We could get it in, but were never able to make it stay the required length of time.

Legg-Baker Speak Vows June 20

Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding of Pamela Ann Legg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Legg of Grayling, and Dan Richard Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Baker of Olivet, Saturday, June 20. The four o'clock wedding was performed by Rev. Paul Frederick before some 75 to 100 guests. Mrs. Forrest Annis provided music for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length cage style sheath gown of chantilly lace over white silk taffeta, fashioned with a stand-up collar and Bishop sleeves. It extended into a tubular train. A lace and pearl tiara headpiece held secure her three tiered English mist veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and yellow roses.

Maid of honor was Susan Berry of Pontiac and bridesmaids were Penny Latusek and Joy Rasmussen. They wore gowns of orchid chiffon, styled with mandarin collars and sheer, full-cuffed sleeves. Scrolled applique lace highlighted the neckline and bodice. From the empire waistline fell softly gathered skirts. Matching petal-shaped headpieces graced their coiffures and they carried bouquets of mums and baby roses.

Linda Sue Legg served as her sister's flower girl. Her gown and flowers were similar to the other attendants.

The groom's attendants were Robert Cinciala, who served as best man; Doug Legg and Dean Goss, groomsmen; Terry Hatfield and David Rutkowski, ushers; and Doug Dickinson of Olivet, who was the ring bearer.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Polyhedron Lodge after which they left on their wedding trip to Niagara Falls. They are now at home at 1407 County Road.

Mrs. Legg chose a dress of pink lace over polyester with lace sleeves and white accessories. The groom's mother wore an aqua knit dress with white accessories. The bride is a graduate of Grayling High School in 1969. The groom attended Olivet High School and served in the Army. He is employed by Shell Oil Co. Out of town guests were from Olivet, Pontiac, Grand Ledge, Pigeon, Kingston, Milford, Roscommon, Royal Oak, Tekonsha and Adrian, as well as Amsterdam, Holland.

June Traffic Deaths Show Reduction

Michigan traffic deaths in June numbered 184 which was a reduction of 52, or 22 per cent, compared with the month's all-time high of 236 set last year, State Police provisional figures showed.

June was the fifth successive month this year to post a decrease in deaths compared with corresponding months in 1969. The June toll was 11 less than the average of 195 for that month in the five years 1965-69. Record low for June was 57 in the wartime year 1944.

The June deaths brought the accumulated road death toll for the first half of 1970 to 999, which was 113, or 10 per cent, below the 1112 for the same period last year.

Reports of delayed deaths charged to accidents in June will increase somewhat the totals for June and the first six months.

Memo from Merrily

By Merrily Baldwin

Extension Home Economist

So your feet hurt after a strenuous day of playing tourist. Travel isn't supposed to be restful. It's supposed to separate you from your responsibilities.

Travel should give you freedom and complete anonymity. Travel is an art that has nothing to do with the amount of money you spend. It's how you spend your money that's important. If you're going to get the most out of travel, make it an adventure and discovery.

But don't try to see everything. If you're pressed for time, cut down the space you'll cover. Other trips for travelers:

When you arrive at your destination, take a walk to look the place over. Window shopping or just strolling is the best way to get acquainted.

Generally, you'll be better off to eat less while traveling than you do at home.

Take a minimum of possessions along. Choose wash and wear fabrics, nylon jersey and "decotlene" polyesters and other easily washed and dried garments. Make a checklist ahead of time. Check everything you consider packing for comfort.

If you're traveling with children, and driving, keep the trip short. No more than 250 miles a day.

And plan activities that will appeal to each member of the family. Part of the trip's enjoyment is the anticipation and planning. Write for maps and literature, and involve the entire family.

Identify points of interest in advance. Estimate time needed to get there conservatively, then connect the spots you want to visit in an itinerary. And learn to read maps to avoid family arguments.

While you're being cautious with time estimates, be generous with money estimates. For a family of four traveling by car, allow about $40 to $50 a day. In addition, budget some for admissions and extras that you won't be able to predict in planning.

You may find you enjoy frequent shorter trips, rather than the traditional two weeks vacation once a year.

Legion Convention At Grand Rapids

Grand Rapids will be the scene of The American Legion's 52nd Annual Department Convention as Legionnaires arrive in this city to elect a new Commander and officers for the 1970-1971 Legion Year.

Over 3,000 members of the Legion and Auxiliary are expected to be in attendance to the Convention, which runs from July 16-19, 1970.

This year's contenders for the position of State Commander are Matthew W. Jamieson of Detroit and George Johnson of Dexter. Both Mr. Jamieson and Mr. Johnson are Legionnaires who have held high positions in The American Legion of Michigan and who have contributed actively to the Legion's Programs. The election will take place on Sunday, July 19, 1970.

Highlighting the four day Convention will be Governor William Milliken, keynote speaker, who will open the official Convention Session at 3:00 p.m. on July 17, 1970 in the Main Civic Auditorium.

Festivities of the Convention include a colorful and tuneful drum and bugle corps competition, a beauty contest and a parade.

The purpose of the Convention is to receive annual reports of State Officers and Committees, consider amendments and resolutions to the Legion's State Constitution and By-Laws, and elect new officers.

"If It Fitz . . ."

By Jim Fitzgerald

Poor Old Joe Single

And then I wrote . . .

Out of the Jimmy Hoffa trial, of all places, came another sneaky jab at my hero, the bachelor. A news item lamented the lonely time the 12 jurors had, locked away from the rest of the world for 6 weeks. With which I will not argue. But then this insidious propagandist added:

"Juror Patrick Haverty had the easiest time of it. He was the LONE BACHELOR in the group." (The caps are mine; so is the neck pain.)

There is a one-sided war going on in the world. All the married people are fighting to get all the single men down the middle aisle in a rented suit. For some reason I don't understand, the bachelors are not fighting back with vigor. As a result, Joe Single is easy prey for the nice couple around the corner who know this lovely girl who Joe should meet, he really should.

So Joe meets her, under the influence of free steaks and booze. His married friends show off their pretty children, well-bribed to behave for the first time since Christmas eve. Mr. and Mrs. talk glowingly about delicious dinners, Sunday papers read in bed, and a light in the window. No mention is made of mortgages, dirty diapers or chocolate fingerprints on favorite books. The usual sighing remarks are made about "How do you stand it all alone in that tiny apartment over the poolroom, Joe?" In no time, the guy is hooked.

And then Joe can say: "I never knew what living was until I got married, but then it was too late."

I am not here to knock marriage per se. It is an ok type of life and I wouldn't sell my family for any amount of swinging freedom. Lease or rent, maybe, but I would always insist on retaining ownership. God, in his almighty wisdom, invented Love, a formless substance which somehow cements the most unlikely relationships and can make a husband forget any number of undies soaking in his bathroom sink or sticky candy in his favorite chair.

But it is time that some married man told Joe Single that he is not necessarily an unfortunate slob, merely treading water until some doll comes along to show him what swimming really is. As a man always interested in seeing a pat on every back, and a kick in every seat, I am volunteering to answer such "poor bachelor" nonsense as planted in the Hoffa trial story.

Why was it easier for Patrick Haverty, rather than the married jurors, to be isolated for 6 weeks? The average reader, well brainwashed by the unfair climate which prevails, would answer: "Well heck, those married people were lonesome for their spouses and children. Patrick didn't have anyone to be lonesome for, so he didn't mind being cooped up."

Such an attitude assumes that there is little in this world to interest Joe Single. Despite being married 132 years, I can remember slamming my front door carelessly at 3 a.m.; I know that Joe doesn't have to go home when the library closes. I could, in fact, list a countless number of goodies available to Joe but I won't, as I hate to make myself cry.

It is not my intention to tell Joe Single what he should do; only what he shouldn't. And the biggest thing he shouldn't do is fall for the malarky his married friends pass out with the dinner invitations. Keep eating in restaurants, Joe. You may think it costs more but you don't know what costs are until you push an overflowing cart up to the A&P checkout counter.

Joe shouldn't be rushed. A nice age to get married is 30; almost as nice as 40. And Joe shouldn't worry about the beach being swept clean of pebbles. New ones come in with every tide.

There is much to be said for living alone, making your own decisions, and watching the clock for no one except yourself. Such a life affords a peace and solitude; a time for quiet thinking and reading; a type of quiet contentment rarely available to the married man.

Unless he gets jury duty. †

Did you know that late in the 1880's the United States had three-cent pieces struck in silver (then nickel), twenty-cent pieces in silver and a dollar in gold? The gold dollars now valued from $37.50 to $1,250.00 are the smallest U. S. coins.

SPACE and AERONAUTICS

A YEAR AGO

WASHINGTON—A year ago, July 20 at 10:56 p.m. EDT, to be precise, Astronaut Neil Armstrong placed his left foot on the surface day to explore it. Now, just of the Moon and uttered the now-famous words for all the this, and this great dream world to hear, "That's one giant leap for mankind."

Eighteen minutes later Astronaut Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin joined Armstrong on the lunar surface and together they read the plaque which left Earth and physically remains on the Moon. Intended his influence to another planet.

"Here Men From the Planet Earth First Set Foot Upon the first anniversary of man's the Moon, July 1969, A.D. landing on the Moon. But We Came In Peace For All Mankind."

July 1969, A.D., Anno Domini for the year of Our Lord—how will that year be recorded by the historians? Does that time, so precisely marked by that first foot-print on the Moon, end one age for man and herald the beginning of a new one?

Historians have devised ways to reckon time and bracket eras and periods in our to neat packages. Religious historians use the Latin, Anno Mundi, for the Age of the World and the years in our time are Anno Domini years.

There have been other categories like the Prehistoric Age, the Age of Exploration and more recently the Machine Age, the Atomic Age and the Space Age.

But whatever the age or the period or the method of reckoning time, throughout the history of man he has always had his eye on the Moon, wondering about its mysteries and dreaming one his left foot on the surface day to explore it. Now, just of the Moon and uttered the now-famous words for all the this, and this great dream world to hear, "That's one giant leap for mankind."

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q I don't think the agent who examined my return was right in disallowing a lot of my deductions. Is there anyone else at IRS I can talk to about this?

A You may request a district conference to discuss the disputed deductions. The way to do this is described on the notice you received explaining the proposed adjustments in your tax.

The conference provides you with an independent review of the items in question since the person representing IRS at the conference is independent of the office that examined your return.

Q My boss stopped taking social security tax from my pay. Why?

A Employers are required to withhold social security taxes on the first $7,800 in wages paid during the calendar year to each employee. In your case, that requirement has evidently been met.

Q My son is putting aside his earnings from a summer job to pay for college. Do I count these earnings when I figure his total support?

A The earnings are included for support purposes in the year they are spent for that purpose. If he spends the money this year then they have to be taken into account in computing total support when you file your 1970 return.

To meet the support test, you must provide over one-half the cost of providing your son's food, shelter, clothing, medical and dental care. Educational expenses are also included.

Q I'm selling my house and moving into a retirement community. Will I have to pay tax on the profit I made?

A Any gain on the sale of property is usually taxable. However, you can postpone the tax on the sale of a personal residence if another is bought within a year before or after the sale at a price at least equal to the "adjusted sales price" of the old house.

If you are 65 before the date of the sale, you may avoid paying tax on the profits from a home sale altogether. To do this, the house must have been owned and used as your principal residence for five of the past eight years and the "adjusted sales price" be $20,000 or less. When the "adjusted sales price" is over $20,000, only a portion of the profit will be taxable.

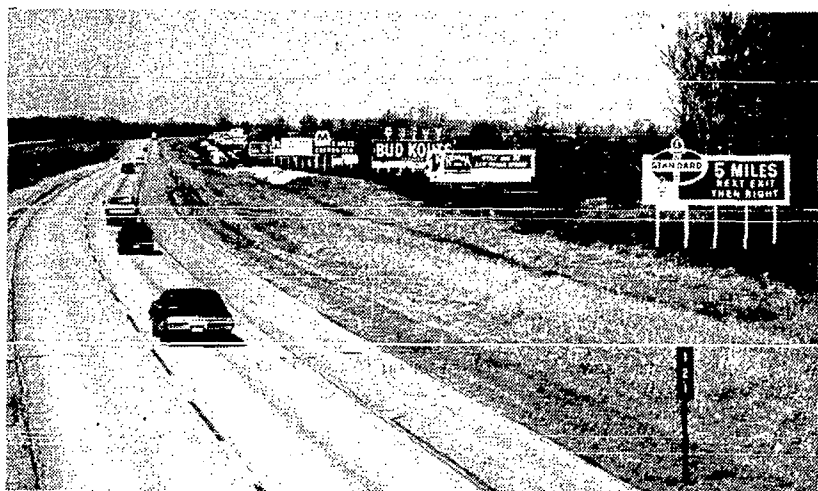

Q Has there been any rate change on the highway use tax?

A No. It is still $3 per 1000 pounds or fraction thereof for trucks with a taxable gross weight of over 26,000 pounds.

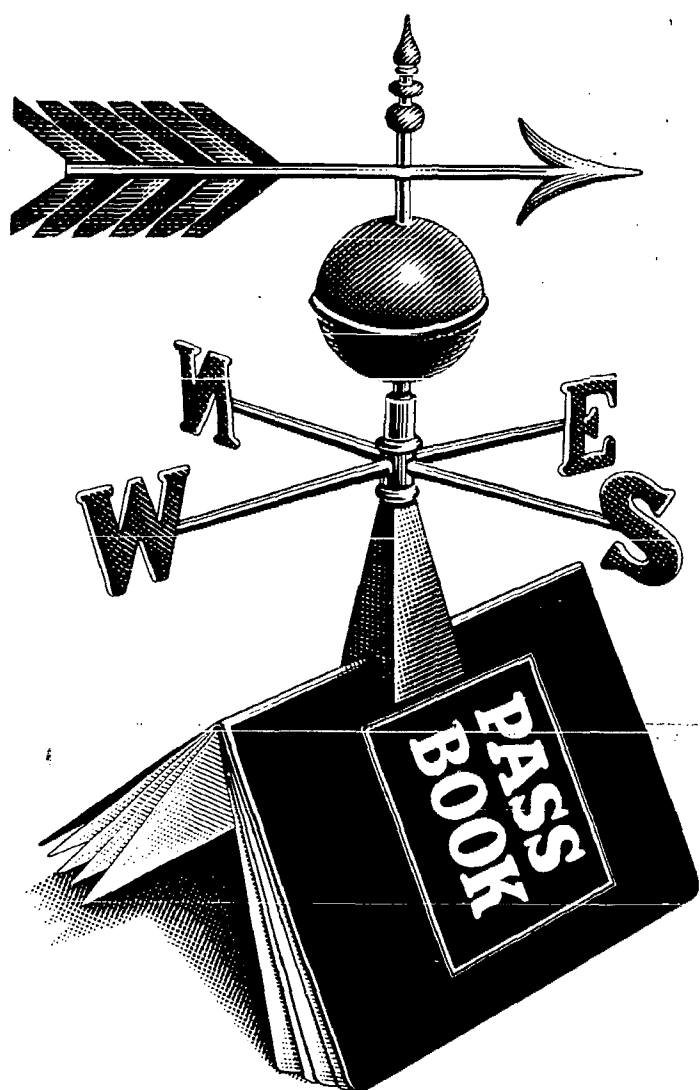

Q Is there any tax difference between alimony and child support payments?

A Yes, alimony payments are taxable to the person who receives them and deductible by those who pay them. Child payments are neither taxable nor deductible, but should be counted in total support for determining who is entitled to claim the child as a dependent.

The Lawmaking Time Clock

The Michigan legislature has now adjourned — for all practical purposes — until after the Aug. 4 primary.

Most of the lawmakers' work has been done for the year, although they will come back after the primary to tidy up the state, and then adjourn or recess again until after the November election.

Who knows! They may keep going again until Christmas, which has become almost the pattern for Michigan legislatures lately.

And what has been accomplished this year, with all the long hours, the study, the strife and the strain, that have engulfed the legislative halls in the Capitol?

When you get right down to it, not much of substance.

According to many long-time observers of capitol affairs, the 1970 legislature will be known as "the parochial legislature," because it finally adopted the principal of public aid to private schools.

It can be argued that parochialism is really a matter of substance; but the way it was handled in 1970 in Michigan, it was much more of an emotional issue than an issue of great import to the state.

But the emotional issue of parochialism and the even more emotional issue of abortion reform seemed to grab the lawmaking spotlight all year, shutting out the likelihood of the lawmakers grappling with substantive matters.

However, we venture to say that even if parochialism and abortion reform were absent this year, the legislature still would have droned on to mid-summer without great substantive accomplishment.

That's because it's the system that controls, and the men and women who serve in the legislative are controlled by the system.

Does Michigan really need 148 full-time year-around lawmakers? I doubt it very much. Yet, this is what the job has come to entail — needlessly, in my opinion.

The basic question is: How is the public interest best served, from both a financial standpoint and a service standpoint?

If the legislature is basically the policy-making body of state government, including the budget-making process, then how much time should the members spend making policy and drawing up budgets?

It seems to me that too much of the legislature's time and efforts are taken up in sideline matters, somewhat afield from the basic policy-making legislative functions.

In 1970, for example, with six months of full-time meeting — including many evening sessions — the legislature failed to come to grips with crime legislation, pollution legislation, basic school financing reform. These are all fundamental questions, with the conduct of state government in these areas to be determined by the various policies as established by the legislature through state laws.

But they all took a back seat — to parochialism, to abortion reform, to study committees, to other sideline matters.

The blame — if such is due — should not fall upon the individual members of the legislature so much as on the process itself, and how it has developed in Michigan.

One of the great campaign themes we'll hear in many legislative elections this year will boost one candidate or the other because he's "a full-time legislator."

I'd be more inclined to favor those candidates who look upon being in the legislature as a part-time job, rather than a full-time job.

If you extend the philosophy of full-time legislating down the line of government to city councils, or county boards of commissioners, or school boards, or even township boards, you can sound the same argument — that running the affairs of the district really take up full-time. You could make all these jobs full-time concerns.

There's always more to do — if you feel you have to do it — than there is time to get it done.

Job Tips for Middle-Aged Offered in New Blue Cross Book

Although Americans age 40 to 65 represent only about one-fourth of the population, they earn more than half the nation's income, hold more than 40 per cent of the stock in U.S. corporations, and account for more than 40 per cent of the female labor force.

These are some of the facts revealed in a new 100-page book, "Generation in the Middle," just published by the Blue Cross Association, the national coordinating agency for the 74 Blue Cross Plans in the United States.

Available free of charge from offices of the local Blue Cross Plans, the book presents an original, fresh look at the physical, emotional and other characteristics and needs of the 50 million Americans between the ages of 40 and 65.

A "Silent Majority" Speaks Up And Tells America "Go USA Go"

"Go USA Go" is a patriotic slogan developed by one American family. Not content to remain one of the "silent majority" this Janesville, Wisconsin, family did something about it.

Jack Pregont and his three children Joe 12, Dan 14, and Ann 13 set up a basement workshop and produced approximately 3,000 lapel buttons on miniature machinery after school and weekends in the past few weeks.

They believe that there's a way to express an opinion without being a dissenter, that if students followed the established procedure in changing things, the United States would continue to prosper and grow into an even greater land.

Mr. Pregont, who lives at 631 Harding Street, Janesville, Wisconsin 53545, has arranged for the mass production of bumper stickers and buttons.

The Capp-Homes catalog shows a large variety of homes in a wide price range, and also supplies packages for electrical, plumbing, kitchen cabinets and heating systems.

The company also makes available a number of financing plans including its own Capp-Homes Purchase Plan, a low cost, low interest plan.

The Voss Open House, in addition to inspection tours, will provide refreshments and a door prize. Mr. Heintzleman will be on hand to answer any questions that visitors may have.
